REACH Style Manager

Collaborative Product Lifecycle Management software that enables designers, sampling coordinators, merchandisers, technicians and managers to collaborate efficiently thereby cutting product cycle times and reducing design and development costs.

What does REACH Style Manager do?

RSM is the Collaborative Product Lifecycle Management software that will enable designers, sampling coordinators, merchandisers, technicians and managers to collaborate efficiently thereby cutting product cycle times and reducing design and development costs.

Designers have to work with numerous variables to build a collection around a theme or a concept. It has to be then marketed to the target audience explaining the conceptualization and building of the design. At the same time, aspects of costs, EXIM, production viability etc. have to be taken into account.

RSM enables apparel manufacturing and merchandising enterprises to efficiently execute, communicate and sell newly developed designs
