What does REACH Bags Nester do?

A significant part of the cost of bags products is material cost.

In a competitive bags market, the ability to provide bags at prices attractive to customers while protecting margins for the firm is critical to survive, grow and thrive.

A lot of material is wasted in bags manufacture, as the optimal packing of patterns involves very many permutations and combinations. This would be a challenging task even for a highly skilled pattern lay planner.

REACH Bags Nester leverages new generation, powerful Artificial Intelligence (AI) tools to create optimal layouts of patterns saving significant quantities of material.

REACH Bags Nester will enable you to create an effective material cost management system.
